Dr. Stefan von Maday, psychiatrist and associate professor, died on June 21, 1959 in Budapest after a long illness at the age of 80. One of the earliest associates of Adler, he was president of the Hungarian Society of Individual Psychology. According to Oliver Brachfeld, a co-founder of this society, it survived the Hitler period and World War II due to Dr. von Maday's able efforts. In addition to several books on Individual Psychology, as a young man he wrote a book on the psychology of the horse. In recent years Dr. von Maday devoted much of his time to the expansion of child guidance clinics in Hungary.

Dr. Emil A. Gutheil, died suddenly on July 7, 1959 in New York at the age of 60. As founder and editor of the American Journal of Psychotherapy he commanded the admiration of all in this and related fields, for the broad scope and world-wide coverage he had been able to give to this publication. Many papers by Individual Psychologists were published in its pages. Psychiatrist and author of many books, Dr. Gutheil was also the official translator of the works of Wilhelm Stekel whose most outstanding student he was. A native of Poland, he received his M.D. degree in Vienna in 1930 and came to the United States in the late nineteen thirties.
